FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

MONEY MARKET. MONDAY, Oct. 3-6 P. M.

re was considerable activity in the stock market at opening this morning, and prices improved through-; but after the board holders submitted to a decline, rations in the street exhibited weakness among lators. The demand for money must soon tell upo stock market with a great deal of force. It is impos sible to say what the cause of the improvement at the first board is, unless it was the character of the foreign carries by the steamship Baltic, which arrived at this port carry this morning. The foreign news is rather of a favorable character, but the advance in the rate of interest is drawback which is calculated to depress prices for stock scarities instead of inflating them. The commerstal accounts are satisfactory. Breadstuffs were marroving, and there is no doubt but that large supplies from this side will be required. Quotations or cotton were well sustained, with a fair amount of business. There was every probability at the latest date of other advance in the rate of interest by the Bank of England of one-half per cent. This may not take place mmediately, but the object aimed at in all the advances made may not be accomplished without. The measure be centinued until the desired effect is produced. The Bank of England is determined to arrest the outward current of precious metals. It must be done in some way, and the only sure way is to raise the market value of money in London so that it will check commercial transelation to the last advance of one-half per cent the Banker's Circular of the 17th ult. says:-

relation to the last advance of one-half per cent the Banker's Circular of the 17th ult. says:—

The step taken by the Bank of England on Thursday, in raising the minimum rate of discount from 4 to 4½ per cent has taken no one by surprise who has looked at the progress of money affairs since the previous advance was made on the 1st of September. We see by the returns in the Gazete of hast night that up to the 10th inst. a further diminution of the bullion has faken place to the extent of £298,716, leaving the total amount in both departments of the bank at £16,201,352, and the reserve of notes at £7,669,090. Acting, therefore, upon the position of the bank in the past week, and judging from the circumstances which have transpired during the present week the only prudent course left for the directors to take was to increase their rata of discount; and unless the stat of the weather should prove more favorable, and the political affairs of the East assume a more tranquil appearance, they will very shortly be compelled to make a still further advance. Opinions have been divided in the city on the present occasion as to the policy of increasing the rate by ½ per cent, instead of raising it at once to five per cent, to prevent the anxiety felt by such rapid changes, while there are those who regard the advance as altogether unwarranted by the general state of the money market, and that it is only another application of the "acrew." We believe there are tule few who have regarded the actual state of the nomey market, the unfavorable results of the harvest, the great extension of our foreign trade, the advance in wages, and the extreme probability of a war between Turkey and Russia, who are not thoroughly convinced of the correctness of the views taken by the bank directors. If we take into consideration the extraordinary effect produced upon the value of the securities of the most unquestionable character, by an advance in the bank rate of discount, it is impossible to regard with indifference the effect produced upo

ion. Money is in demand, and commands high rates of beract, and our exchanges, both foreign and domestic, ar in a sound and healthy state. Trade in all its ramifica tions continues healthy, and speculation has not beer rampant in any of our great staple products, and not ever in fancy stocks. The banks of this city, which is the great centre of all financial operations on this side of the Atlantic, have been, by several public and private provi alone, restricted and checked in their movements to such an extent as to remove entirely all those apprehen-sions which in former years filled the minds of capitalists and commercial men generally. The bank here never in a sounder state than at this moment, and her cannot but continue so. In a few weeks the excite relative to the political state of Europe will subside In the meantime our advices from the other side will without doubt, be of a very warlike character, and al ts of reports will be current; but we have no idea tha bestilities will actually commence. Turkey will be pre valled upon by England to agree to whatever terms Rus sia may propose, and sooner or later all the difficultie which now threaten to involve the whole of Europe in eneral war will be amicably if not satisfactorily ad

The variations in quotations to-day, compared with those current at the close of the market on Saturday, have been as follows:—Nicaragua Transit advanced 1/2 per cent; Canton Company, 3/4; Cumberland Coal, 3/4; Gold Hill, %; Parker Vein, %; Erie Railroad, 1; Hudson Railroad, 1/4. Michigan Central Railroad declined 1/4 per cent. At the mining board to-day the transactions were unusmally large, and better prices were obtained. We annex

The injunction on sine mines in Lehigh county, Pa., peferred to this morning, has, we learn, nothing to do with the mines of the Pennsylvania Zinc Company, as stated. That company owns several mines, only one of which it is now working. The injunction is upon a mine in their immediate neighborhood, which will come into their sion upon the settlement of the suit now at issue The Pennsylvania Company owns its working mines in fee, and have mineral rights covering the whole valley in increase in discounts of $56,775; in circulation, $44,124; and a decrease in deposits of $343,673, and in specie, $109,113. The decrease in deposits shows an active and increasing demand for money. The drain of specie has been for remittance to the South and West, as well as to Europe, and during the present week the decrease is likely to be greater than that just reported. We shall see in
